

Stone Stacking

Hanging in the balance!
Stone balancing is an art where rocks and stones are balanced on top of each other in various positions without the use of adhesives (glue), wire or supports. It is a fusion of art, maths and physics to create sculptures from natural materials around us.

Adrian Gray is an artist from the UK who specialises in stone balancing sculptures.

Here's some examples for inspiration...

